Stationary point

A stationary point of a function is one where function is neither increasing nor decreasing. This occurs when the gradient of its curve is zero, that is to say, when its derivative is zero.

Last updated 08-Jul-16